"The Queen's Head," Pinner. This hostelry dates back as far as 1705, and has not been altered in any way since it was built. In the old coaching days it was one of the most famous in the country, and the village coach used to ply between there and "The Bell" at Holborn daily. Queen Anne is supposed to have put up there one night, and the present signboard is said to be a portrait of her.
